We know you're receiving this for the second time and we apologize. There was a technical error causing all the images to break in yesterday's mailing. Hopefully that's been resolved. Sorry for the spam!

We had an overwhelming response to the first issue of the Go-4 Nugeletter! Thanks so much for your feedback! We're glad you enjoy reading it as much as we enjoy creating it!

We're especially glad that you're excited about PA School! We're working feverishly on the syllabus so stay tuned for more info as it comes together.

Go-4 Nuge at Film Day - March 17th, 2015 in Olympia on the steps of the Capitol

Go-4 Nuge Production Rentals is proud to have donated our vehicles, supplies and time to help make Film Day a success. We were happy to provide the use of our 10' box truck, Big Mama motorhome, walkies and production supplies. We also used our Shuttle Bus to take a load of riders down AND PROVIDE ON SET BATHROOMS!

Thank you to all the other companies and individuals who donated, organized and took the time to travel to Olympia for this very important event. If you couldn't make it, we've included some photos of our gear and our colleagues in action.

PA SCHOOL UPDATE!

We have a tentative date of June 13th and 14th.

Washington Filmworks Announces Innovation Lab Funding Recipients

Van Alan, Will Lummus and Ben Dobyns are the recipients of the March 2015 Cycle of Washington Filmworks' Innovation Lab funding assistance. They will split $100,000 worth of funding between their two projects.

Van Alan and Will Lummus will receive funding for Automata, a comic property created by Seattle-based web-comic conglomerate Penny Arcade. It is a serialized science-fiction noir comic set in an alternate 1930's Prohibition-era New York City.

Ben Dobyns will receive funding for Strowlers, a shared multi-platform world from Zombie Orpheus Entertainment. Set in the modern day, it tells the story of the misfits, outcasts, artists, and activists who exist on the magical fringes of society.

Congratulations to Van, Will and Ben!

Beyond Film

The March issue of Seattle Magazine contains a nice surprise: a photo spread that was art directed by our very own Erin O. Kay! Using her own lawn chair and a grill from Craigslist, Erin created a cheery backyard scene for the Affordable Neighborhoods section.
